

The figure displays four scatter plots arranged horizontally, each representing a different scenario. The points are colored according to their group: purple for 'g', blue for 'r', green for 'i', and orange for 'z'. The plots show the spatial distribution of these groups, with varying degrees of overlap and separation between them. The legend in the top right corner identifies the groups by color.

